Parker—Brown.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Herbert O. Brown last Thursday at half past two o'clock. The occasion was the marriage of their daughter, Ethel May, to Arthur O. Parker of Grafton. Rev. B. C. Wentworth officiated, using the double ring service.

The bride wore a gown of white silk and in place of the customary veil, a wreath of maidenhair ferns and lilies-of-the-valley. The couple were attended by Florence Parker, sister of the groom, and Cecil Brown, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Parker wore white muslin and carried pink. The wedding march was played by Ethel Wentworth.

The house was prettily decorated with evergreen and quantities of ferns.

Miss Brown has lived in Norway for several years and has always been prominent in affairs of the Methodist church, of which she is a member. She was graduated from the High school last year, being valedictorian of her class, since which time she has worked in the office of B. F. Spinney & Co.

Mr. Parker is the oldest son of Curatio Parker of Grafton, and is a surveyor.

Immediately after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Parker left in an automobile for an extended trip.

Peter S. Buck.

Peter B. "Buck" was away Friday at his late home on Whitman St. He was born in Greenwood, October 24, 1819, son of Daniel and Eunice (Coy) Buck. He was educated in the public schools of his town.

On reaching his majority he spent a few years in Boston, after which he married Sarah, youngest daughter of Rebecca (Holmes) Bacon.

In occupation he was always a farmer, for many years owning and personally conducting a large stock farm until declining years necessitated a change in business, when he settled in Norway where he has since resided. Politically he has always been a Democrat. Formerly a member of Granite Lodge F. & A. M. and also a member of West Paris Lodge I. O. O. F.

He leaves two daughters, who deeply mourn his loss. Clara E. who lived at Norway and Sarah E. who lived at home and tenderly cared for him in his declining years, beside a host of friends. His motto always being the "Golden Rule."

Interment at Pine Grove Cemetery.

At Edgemere Lodge.

Alice Maxin, Leah Wetherbee and Freeland King of Norway were guests at Edgemere Lodge, Round Pond, over Sunday. Other members of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Amos King, Mr. and Mrs. Harold King, Ralph, Alice, Geo and Phillip King, of Locke's Mills.

The Lodge has a delightful location, being situated a little way from the shore in a grove of pines. Every minute of the outing was enjoyed, most of the time being spent on the water in canoes and boats but without doubt the big event of the occasion was the fish chowder served Sunday afternoon, though we won't forget to mention the ice cream.

Altogether it was a fine little recreation, and it was not without regrets that the Norway party returned home.

They have only bought the factory building and Mr. Adams still owns the sheds, as he says "two good lots."

They do not take possession till October first and Mr. Adams will run his business there till that time.

The Standard Bearers met at the home of Ella Clark, Monday evening.

The Epworth League held a business meeting and social at the vestry, Wednesday evening.

The first Quarterly Conference of the year was held Tuesday evening in charge of G. D. Holmes, District Superintendent.

Children's Day, which was to be observed next Sunday, has been postponed one week and will be held June 18th.

The Ladies' Circle will meet Thursday afternoon, June 15, with Mrs. A. T. Bennett. It is desired that there will be a large attendance, as there is special work to be done.

THE NORWAY ADVERTISER

(OXFORD COUNTY, ME.)

JUNE 9, 1911, NORWAY, MAINE.

VOLUME XLII.

Old Time Incidents.

FRIEND SANBORN: Referring to my diary of 1861, this is the day of special interest to the citizens of Norway, when the Norway Light Infantry, or Co. G of the First Maine Reg't of Volunteers, and the pride of Norway, left Portland for the seat of war, at and about Washington.

"There was no place for 'kids' in this Company, for men were offering $200 for places as private in the Company, so but one boy got in, and he only as the Captain's waiter, Well Hobbs, and he took a musket as soon as he could get one. He was killed in the hard fighting before Richmond, having been promoted to Captain and breveted on the battle field Major, an honor but few reached before they were of age."

Another of the oldest of Norway's old time active business men, Isaac Denison, has passed away. I well remember how anxious he was about the welfare of the "boys" of the Civil war, and so liberal to their wants on every call.

Your alusion in a late paper to the old carriage shop of C. F. Kimball's, brings up many old time incidents. With so many active young men in a small village gave much life to the common sports of the times. I can now see the main street for two squares alive at the noon hour, kicking the foot ball.

The cornet band, led by one of the best cornet players of the country, Glines, was in great demand. But Fred Robbins, who played the trombone, was the wonder of the day, for he could whistle two parts, "the air and alto," of all the popular music of those days.

As Father Tucker had the contract for several years to trim the dashers and shafts, we boys had reason to remember some of the fine work of those days.

The dashers were stitiched with white thread as was the ornamental work of the patent leather, such as the backs and sides of the bodies of the best grades, and as fine as the leather would permit. White shoe thread and white beeswax were used to use, and a needle so fine that I could hardly keep the needles threaded as fast as Brother William would stitich it in. Our shop was over Mr. Samuel Favors' store, next below the Elm House.

The buggies of those days were of the side spring, Concord or a good many like it, and one had to carry an umbrella for the rain and shade.

The two doctors, Danforth and Howe, had only the two wheeled gig, and when Dr. Howe came out with a new one with a top it was quite the wonder of the villagers as well as of the country people.

I would not make the claim that Dr. Holmes' old "chaise" was built in Norway, but I well remember a few of those very comfortable riding vehicles that were the mark of the wealthy people. The springs were made of leather at least four inches wide and nearly an inch thick. Father would not trust anyone else to stitich them, for which he used a ten cord thread. They were hardly breakable for years of service.

After the carriage factory moved to Portland there was quite a shoe factory started and employed quite a good many men, women and boys. When we boys could make 25c stitiching ten pairs of shoes in a day we were very independent.

We had a few very hot days in May, which were reported as very general, but late rains have made all the coming crops look very promising.

With very kind regards,
HENRY TUCKER.

Abbott—Brown.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Brown of Norway was a brilliant scene of festivity on the evening of June 7th, the great occasion being the marriage of Mr. Brown's daughter, Viola, to U. S. Grant Abbott.

The parlor was decorated with wild flowers and the fresh, fragrant tips of branches of the Norway spruce and may flower and tenderly cared for him in his declining years, beside a host of friends. His motto always being the "Golden Rule."

Interment at Pine Grove Cemetery.

Alice Maxin, Leah Wetherbee and Freeland King of Norway were guests at Edgemere Lodge, Round Pond, over Sunday. Other members of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Amos King, Mr. and Mrs. Harold King, Ralph, Alice, Geo and Phillip King, of Locke's Mills.

Ethel Bradbury is spending a short vacation with friends in Bangor and Calais. Her sister, Mrs. Will Moore, is taking her place at the shoe factory.

Temperance Meeting.

The Opera House was well filled last Sunday evening to listen to a temperance address by J. R. Libby of Portland. Mr. Libby spoke for nearly an hour, his address was packed full of good sensible facts concerning present conditions in Maine. He declared that one finely equipped licensed saloon in Portland situated on Congress street at some central point would sell more liquor than is now sold in the entire city, notwithstanding the fact that Portland is unusually lax in enforcement.

While he admitted that the law did not absolutely prohibit, but if it, curtailed seventy-five per cent. of the trade, it was of great value. That a license law is violated even more than the 'prohibitory' law. A license law in Maine would be the greatest calamity that could befall the business men of Maine. The danger of losing the law is the indifference of the people in our rural communities who think the law is safe.

The prohibitory law in Vermont was lost for this reason. In one county enough temperance men staid at home to have saved the state had they voted. The prohibitory law poorly enforced is better than a license law at its best.

Arthur E. Norworth.

Arthur E. Norworth died at his home on School street, June 1st. Mr. Norworth had been sick a long time and had made a brave fight with disease. Mr. Norworth was born in Exeter, Eng., June 17, 1862, the son of George and Annie Norworth. He had lived in Norway 35 years since coming from England. He attended school in Lynn, Mass., and Norway.

He was a member of Norway Lodge, No. 16, I. O. O. F., and the Encampment. Politically he was a Republican, religiously a Universalist. He was a member of the Norway Brass Band and the Norway Orchestra. He was a fine musician and had been a leader of the band and the orchestra for several years. He had also played in various places. His correct playing will be remembered by residents in this section. He was a shoe cutter at the E. F. Spinnery & Co. shoe shop.

Mr. Norworth was a kindly man. He loved animal pets, and enjoyed music, paintings, flowers and nature, in fact all beautiful things.

He married Etta F. Cushman of Norway, Aug. 15, 1885. Their only daughter died in infancy. A brother, George Norworth, will be remembered as a foreman in the E. F. Spinnery & Co. factory.

The funeral was held Sunday from his late residence and was conducted by the Odd Fellows, a large number being present; also the members of the band attended. Rev. M. C. Ward was the attending clergyman. Interment in Pine Grove. The floral offerings were beautiful.

Ode To June.

O, bright and joyous month of June,
With singing birds and sweetest flowers,
Fulfilling all thy promise
In fragrant woods, and vernal bowers.

Great is thy wealth, in Nature's lap,
Of birds and blossoms everywhere,
And soft and sweet thy zephyrs are,
Wafted from meadow bloom so fair.

Thy sparkling brooks, with emerald bands,
Coursing along through fern and lea,
As time waits not but onward moves,
So they move on toward the sea.

Yes, brightest month in all the year,
And like a queen with braid of gold,
Strawing her treasures everywhere,
Her richest garments to unfold.

She calmly sits on jeweled throne,
With ever-dawning tresses, fair,
And buds and blossoms everywhere,
And vine-clad rocks, and grassy ways.

Make brighter still the vernal earth,
Like some sweet dream of brighter days,
And so, O beauteous month of June!
With lap of blossoms running o'er,
With music of the birds, and dew of eve,
I love thy beauties more, and more.

And now, farewell O sweet June days,
Thy work is fulfilled! To the season,
But in my memory linger still—
O bright, O beauteous month of June.

Indian Women.

Perhaps if the women of the states in which "votes for women" has become a lively issue were to adopt the tactics that were successfully employed by their copper-colored sisters of the mesa towns of Arizona, they might win the privilege of the ballot with greater ease than by a mere appeal to the reason and sense of justice of the men voters, says the San Francisco Chronicle. Time was when the squaws of Hopiland, in what is now known as the Painted Desert region of Arizona, were mere household drudges and beasts of burden, just as the women of the Navahos, Utes and Apaches are today.

Some forgotten female Gompers or Powderly organized them into a union and declared a general strike. On that momentous day the babies cried unheeded in their basket cradles, the corn remained unground in the mealing bins, and the astonished and incensed warriors bellowed in vain for their mocassins.
The women were gone! They had colored off, unnoticed, to a distant mesa, so difficult of access that they felt confident of their ability to defend it, if need be, against attack.

For a while the husbands refused to worry, believing that the squaws would return to their homes, begging forgiveness and a restoration of domestic felicity. But the women were not in a begging humor. Days passed into weeks and weeks into months. The men began to treat for peace and for a restoration of the old relations. To all such overtures the women replied that they would live and die upon their own mesa, unless the men would concede to them the mastery of the households. It was a bitter pill for the men to swallow, but life without women was felt to be not worth the living. So the men gave in at last and the women returned home in triumph.

How long ago it was that all this happened is a question upon which the traditions of the Hopis cast no light.
But the victory won by the women still endures. Upon the vexed question of the "rights of women" the Hopis have taken a stand far in advance of anything known in any civilized community.
Even the most aggressive suffragette that has ever taken the platform or beard a trembling legislator has not yet demanded the half that the happy Hopi squaws enjoy.

For in Hopiland it is not merely equal rights with the bucks that the squaws rejoice in. If that were all, the men might, perhaps, be content. All the houses in the Hopi towns are owned by the women. The wife receives the newly married husband into the home she has prepared for his reception; the children belong to her clan and receive her clan name. She is considered the owner of all the household goods, food supplies and other possessions of the family. (The men perform all outside and field labor, attend to the sheep, goats and burros, cut and carry wood, and do most of the physical work of their wives and children are provided for. In civilized communities this would be considered quite right and becoming, but it is a state of affairs nowhere else paralleled among the American Indians.

But this is not all that is expected of the sadly henecked husbands of Hopi-land. They must shear the sheep, card the wool and weave it into blankets, coats, ceremonial robes, and even dresses, shawls and other wearing apparel for the women folk. They must knit their own stockings and tan the sheepskin for the wives' leggings. On occasion they must even mind the babies, and help with the household tasks.

Strangely enough, the women build the houses—probably because they consider the men incompetent to the performance of so important a task. They rattle the flagstone walls, level the dirt floors, apply the mud plaster, and place the roof in position.

The two industries in which the Hopis excel—basketry and pottery making—are exclusively in the hands of the women. Most remarkable of all is the fact that among the Hopis it is the women, and not the men that propose here it is always the year—and there isn't a "Old maid in all Hopiland!" What would happen to a buck who should have the temerity to ask a squaw to marry him, no one knows. Such a thing has never happened.

More humiliating still is the circumstance that the woman or girl matril-monially inclined does not condescend to propose to the object of her choice.
She simply consults her mother. If the mother gives her consent (and she always does), nothing more is needed, and the victim is led to the sacrifice.

Having ruled the roost and bossed their husbands for centuries, it is not strange that the average height of the women is much greater than that of the men. The men, as a rule, are small, stunted, shifty-eyed and starved-looking.
The women, on the contrary, are well built, robust, muscular, and even when judged by the white man's standard, often handsome. Some of them have figures that Diana the Huntress might own and display without shame.

The men are just as inferior intellectually as they are physically. They are slow of wit, dull of comprehension and lacking in initiative. On the other hand, the squaws are shrewd bargainers, quick to see or crack a joke, and full of vim and energy.

Woman's Stomach.

It Causes Much Misery if not Kept in Condition.

Many women who would not tolerate anything but a scrupulously clean kitchen continue day in and day out to suffer from an unhealthy stomach, where food ferments, turns sour and becomes putrid.

It is just as easy for a woman to keep her stomach clean, as to keep her kitchen clean; in fact it is much easier, and does not require hours of toil.

One or two M-I-O-Na stomach tablets after each meal will in a short time thoroughly clean and renovate the most distressed stomach. They will do more; they will put strength and energy into the walls of the stomach, and cause the juices of digestion to flow freely, so that all food will promptly digest.

Women: keep your stomach clean and free from fermenting food, and you will find that other ailments such as nausea, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, constipation and palpitation of the heart will disappear.

Frank Kimball, proprietor of the Noyes Drug Store and druggist everywhere sell M-I-O-Na stomach tablets for only 50 cents a large box. They are guaranteed to cure indigestion or any stomach trouble, or money back. They stop belching of gas and after dinner distress in five minutes. Give them a fair trial; they won't disappoint you.
One woman writes:
"I had been bothered for eight years with gas, belching and bloating of the stomach. M-I-O-Na cured me." 21-23

Strawberry Shortcake.

Simultaneously with the appearance of strawberries on the stands of grocers and fruiterers the luscious strawberry shortcake may be seen occupying a conspicuous place on the family board. It is always a welcome visitor and the changing season which relegates it to autumn spring is watched with regret.

There are two foundations for the strawberries. One is a plain yellow cake baked in layers with the strawberries as a filling. But the most familiar and perhaps the best liked foundation is the old fashioned one of a rich biscuit dough baked in a flat pan and split through the center to admit the berries.

To make this biscuit cake, mix four cupfuls of sifted flour with one heaping teaspoonful of lard and butter mixed.
Add three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and enough sweet milk to make a soft dough. Roll into half-inch sheets and bake in a quick oven. When done remove and split through the center.
Butter, then spread on the berries.
Cover with the remaining half of the sheet and pile the top with berries dusted with powdered sugar. Serve with sweet cream or hard sauce.

The flavor of the berries is brought out more thoroughly by washing them, partially and sprinkling them with sugar before they are placed in the cake.
Crush them, but do not make them mushy.

For hard sauce beat one-fourth cup of butter to a cream. Gradually add one cup of powdered sugar, beating thoroughly until very light. Add the whites of two eggs, beat until light and frothy, then flavor with one teaspoonful of vanilla, beating this in carefully. Allow to harden by standing in the refrigerator.
When placed on the hot cake the sauce partially melts and adds a delicious addition to the shortcake.

WORMS Unsuspected worms are the cause of numerous little things that go wrong with children.
When a child is sick you rarely think that its sickness is caused by worms, yet worms, either directly or indirectly, are the cause of three quarters of all the ills of childhood.
Children, and oftentimes adults, feel out of sorts, are irritable, feel listless and unrefreshed in the morning; suffer with indigestion, have a variable appetite, foul tongue, offensive breath; hard and full belly, with occasional gripings and pains about the navel; eyes heavy and dull; itching of the nose; short, dry cough; grinding of the teeth; slow fever; and often, in children, convulsions—in the majority of cases the cause of all the trouble is worms, though you may not suspect their presence.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR
A pure vegetable compound, has been the standard household remedy since 1851. It never fails to expel not only worms but all waste matter, leaving the blood rich and pure, the stomach sweet, the bowels regular and the whole system strong and healthy.
The mother who gives her children Dr. True's Elixir regularly is wise, because it not only increases the appetite and acts as a preventive of coughs, cold, fever and worms, but gives rugged, robust health.
Sold by all Druggists. Prices 35c, 50c and $1.00.
Write for free booklet,

A Welcome Change

Smoke curling up from the farmhouse chimney as the men are coming in from the fields, gives a pretty suggestion of a good supper and a comfortable home. But it also means a hot, tired woman, working hard over a blazing fire.

Your wife can escape this with a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

A New Perfection keeps a kitchen many degrees cooler than any other range; yet it does all a coal or wood range can do. It saves time, labor and fuel. No wood to cut; no coal to carry; no ashes; no soot.
With the New Perfection oven it is the best cooking device you can find anywhere.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.
Dealers everywhere; or write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the Fire On Oxford Plains.

The first news of the fire received in this village was learned when Agnes Fuller rode into the village, Sunday, on horseback from her father's home near the scene of the fire, to secure aid.

Fifty men from our village fought the fire bravely.

The employees of the Grand Trunk, who came in response to the call for assistance came to the scene of the fire on a special train and it is believed here that had the men from South Paris not responded the village of Oxford would have been destroyed.

The fire started about one and a half miles above the Grand Trunk depot when sparks from the locomotive of the Boston paper train, which passed through this town at 9.36 started a blaze in the woods on the property known as Oxford Plains.

Fanned by a strong easterly wind the fire gained headway and before the volunteer fire fighters arrived on the scene over 100 acres of wood land had been burned over. The efforts of the firemen for the first few hours seemed fruitless as the fire still continued to spread and 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon 200 acres had been burned over.

The fire came within a short distance of the farms of Henry Bowker, John Smith, John Hale and Albion Smith. At one time it was thought the homes would be destroyed, but by building back fires and digging trenches the flames were kept from destroying the houses.

The fire came within a short distance of the Grand Trunk depot and when checked was not more than one third of a mile from the village of Oxford.

SMARTNESS AND INDIVIDUALITY ILLUSTRATED IN EVENING GOWNS

"THE last word" in elegance and smartness in evening gowns is a term which might be applied with justice to the two beautiful creations shown in the picture. They are late designs from the master minds of Paris. The bib or pinafore frock is a charming development designed for spring evening frocks. It will be found a dainty costume for the Easter dances. Satin in a lovely shade of old rose is the foundation of the dress, over which is a tunic drapery of the same satin, its hem outlined with a single row of pearl beads. Princess lace in a deep dounce trims the bottom of the skirt and makes the sleeves and guimpe above the pinafore bodice.

The other gown, of marquisette trimmed with jet and pearl beads, is exquisitely beautiful without exhibiting any traces of departure from generally accepted modes. The surprise effect of the bodice, with its short sleeves and its chains of pearl and jet beads, is a mode which combines beautifully with the gracefully trained skirt adorned with flower or sunburst effects in pearl and jet.

OPINIONS OF WOMEN WORTH LISTENING TO.

"Club life has taught me the value of gentleness, generosity and justice. And the greatest of these is justice. Almost any one can be gentle or generous, if one will only try, but it means something to be just," says Mrs. William Tod Helmuth, the well known clubwoman.

Mrs. Gabrielle Stewart Mulliner, the New York lawyer, says: "The trouble with the modern unhappy marriage is not that husband and wife see too much of each other, but that they see too little. They don't need days off from a too confining companionship, because they are not companions."

"American women have been fed for years on candy coated lemons, and they've sucked away at them with the enthusiasm of gurgling infants. Fathers—things to keep babies quiet—are what our government has handed their women, whom it considers 'units' to help make its laws." This is the interesting opinion of Mrs. Sofia Loebinger, editor of the American Suffragette.

"Chivalry belongs to both sexes. There should be a sharing of responsibilities. It is an injustice to women to shield them from duties that should interest them. Surely you American women are here for something more than a good time, even when it is offered to you. Surely you resent being criticized as pampered, idle, aimless, heartless, neurotic, butterfly women." This was said recently by Mrs. Philip Snowden, the English suffragette.

Davis Paine Curtis. Davis Paine Curtis, a well known and highly respected citizen, died at 8 o'clock a. m. Mr. Curtis was born in Woodstock in 1830, and was the second child of a family of six children born to the late Daniel and Charlotte Paine (Curtis), only two of whom survive him, Daniel H. Curtis of North Paris and James P. Curtis of this village. He married Mrs. Lorinda Starbird Lurvey, who with their only son, Elsworth D. Curtis, are left to mourn their loss. Mr. Curtis had been ill from a serious kidney trouble for more than a year, but was able to be about most of the time during the last two or three days, when he failed very rapidly.

He came to West Paris more than forty years ago, where he has been actively engaged in stock trading and farming. He was a kind husband and father, an upright, honest citizen, a genial, kind hearted, generous friend, a friend to everybody, and everybody was friendly toward him.

He was especially fond of children, and generally a train of small boys accompanied him to and from the farm, where they received many a lesson of honest thrift and a chance to drive the horse or cows or get a ride in the farm wagon.

Mr. Curtis attended the Methodist church with his family. He was a member of the West Paris Lodge, I. O. F., and Onward Rebekah Lodge, who attended the funeral in a body. Mrs. Forrest Thurston, Harold Thurston the whip to his horses and it hit the colt, frightening him, tipping the carriage over, throwing the occupants out and smashing the wagon. Mrs.

Thurston was thrown on to a pile of rocks and was badly bruised and cut but no bones were broken. The wagon fell on to them but Mrs. Thurston man-

DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP HER

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pound, Wis. "I am glad to announce that I have been cured of dyspepsia and female troubles by your medicine. I had been troubled with both for fourteen years and consulted different doctors, but failed to get any relief. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I can say I am a well woman.
I can't find words to express my thanks for the good your medicine has done me. You may publish this if you wish."
—Mrs. HERMAN SEETH, Pound, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial.
Proofs are abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write
Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it.
It is free and always helpful.

"My husband, children and myself have used your medicines, and we always keep them in the house in case of necessity. I was restored to health by this medicine, and Dr. Hartman's invaluable advice and books. People ask about me from different places, and are surprised that I can do all of my household work alone, and that I was cured by the doctor of chronic catarrh. My husband was cured of asthma, my daughter of earache and catarrh of the stomach, and my son of catarrh of the throat. When I was sick I weighed 100 pounds; now I weigh 140.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

He is literally obeying the scriptural injunction, Cast up the highway and gather out the stones. On Tuesday afternoon there was a startling succession of explosions near the town house in which a number of immense boulders were broken for the widening of the road at the bend near the Town house.
